

Central Powers Plan Offensive In The Balkans

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE MAY BE CALLED SATURDAY NIGHT

PROPOSED NEW GREEK PREMIER FAVORS THE VENIZELOS POLICIES

London, Sept. 14.—A wireless press despatch from Rome says at the general council of the Central Powers at the headquarters of the German Emperor an offensive campaign in the Balkans was mapped out and that Germany will send 200,000 men and Austria 100,000 for this purpose.

Amsterdam, Sept. 14.—(Via London)—German newspapers attach profound importance to the conference now taking place at German eastern headquarters. Those in attendance include the German emperor, the imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the chief of staff, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, and the first quartermaster general, Von Ludendorff, representing Germany; Archduke Charles, representing Austria-Hungary; King Ferdinand and the Crown Prince representing Bulgaria; and Enver Pasha, Turkish minister of war.

The Frankfurter Zeitung intimates that the fate of the near east is being decided. Dutch papers suggest that the conference is considering new and drastic strategic changes in the nature of sacrifices on one or both fighting fronts.

Asked To Head New Cabinet

Athens, Greece, Sept. 14.—(Via London)—King Constantine has asked M. Dimitracopoulos, former minister of justice, to form a new cabinet. M. Dimitracopoulos has accepted in principle, and will confer with the king.

Supports Policies Of Venizelos

London, Sept. 14.—M. Dimitracopoulos, who has been asked to form a new Greek cabinet, is a supporter of the policy of the former Premier Venizelos. He has expressed the opinion that with Rumania in the war it was time for Greece to abandon her neutrality.

Athens dispatches say that the former minister of justice, M. Dimitracopoulos, after reaching an understanding with the king, will put his views before the cabinet ministers and let their attitude determine whether he will accept the premiership.

M. Dimitracopoulos, the dispatches add, is of the opinion that Greece's departure from neutrality is the only remedy for the present international situation.

Athens, Greece, Sept. 13. (Via London, Sept. 14.)—M. Dimitracopoulos has asked King Constantine to allow him 48 hours in which to consult his friends before deciding as to whether he will undertake the formation of a new cabinet. The former minister of justice also wishes to sound the ministers of the entente before reaching a decision. M. Dimitracopoulos is known to have declared that his acceptance of the premiership will only be made on the basis that he is given full power to control the national policy. He will insist that his hands must be free to take whatever steps the present crisis calls for even to the entry of Greece into the war.

Zaimis Pride Was Wounded

Athens, Sept. 12.—(Via London, Sept. 14.)—Every effort to persuade Alexander Zaimis, the aged premier, to remain in office was fruitless. His pride was wounded by the appearance of the allied fleet off Piræus at the very moment when negotiations had begun for the entry of Greece into the war.

British agents and the invasion of the French legations by ruffians, taken in conjunction with the continual internal discord in the face of a great national crisis, completely discouraged the entire cabinet. The result was not only to precipitate the retirement of the Zaimis ministry, but to bring to a standstill, and possibly even to an end, all discussion of a departure from neutrality by Greece.

"I hope the entente now sees where its policy of trying to force matters leads," a prominent Greek official with sympathies for the entente, said to the Associated Press today.

"The moral effect of Greece's entry into the war with the allies unquestionably would have been a shortening of the war by many months. Without a figure like Zaimis, detached from politics to conduct the negotiations, there is scarcely a ghost of a chance that this can be arranged. God knows nobody in Greece has opposed entry into the war for the last fortnight and if this country does not go in, the responsibility must fall on those who are too impatient to await the end of legitimate discussion of details."

Constantine Wants To Depart From Neutrality

King Constantine, however, much he may be annoyed by the delay in settling the relations of Greece with the entente, is seeking a premier who will hasten arrangements to depart from neutrality. Nicholas Dimitracopoulos, who was minister of justice under Premier Venizelos, but is no longer a supporter of Venizelos, was approached this afternoon with a proposal to form a ministry along the lines of the desire of the king.

ROSS COUNTY SHERIFF CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—Sheriff Alonzo Sweptson, of Ross county, today was cited to appear before United States Judge John E. Sater at ten o'clock Saturday morning for contempt of court.

Judge Sater issued the order today following an extensive investigation of charges that Sheriff Sweptson permitted Charles L. Dye, a federal prisoner, sentenced to six months' confinement in the Chillicothe jail, to live outside the jail. Although Dye, who was sentenced from Marietta for violation of the federal liquor laws, was received at Chillicothe about July 1 to begin his sentence Judge Sater was informed that the prisoner had never been locked up.

Dye was reported to have lived at the home of a Chillicothe saloon keeper and to have purchased a high powered automobile since being sentenced. He also was reported as having attended several county fairs in the vicinity of Chillicothe.

LIMA WOMAN VICTIM OF ASSAULT BY NEGRO

Lima, O., Sept. 14.—Another Lima woman was the victim of assault by a negro last evening.

Mrs. Grover Knittle was attacked in her home, but escaped her assailant after a struggle. James Smith, 31, a railroad track laborer, was arrested, identified by Mrs. Knittle and immediately rushed out of the city to escape another attempt of violence.

Mrs. Knittle was in the kitchen at 8:30 last evening. Her two-year old daughter was in the dining room. As the mother stepped into the room where the babe was playing she saw a negro removing the screen and crawling through the window. Thinking that the man was after the baby she made a rush for the child.

"I don't want the kid; it's you I am after," said the negro. The babe was thrown aside and the mother grasped by the shoulders. Mrs. Knittle was forced backward into another room, she screamed and struggled, finally breaking the negro's hold and ran through the dining room toward the kitchen with the black after her. The negro picked up a plate as he passed the dining table and hurled it, striking the woman on the shoulder. She reached the outside door and her calls for help were heard by neighbors.

Police were soon on the scene and the search for the assailant began. Shortly after 9 o'clock, a suspect fitting the good description given by Mrs. Knittle, was located behind a door in a notorious rendezvous for negroes. The suspect was hurried to the Knittle home, where he was identified by Mrs. Knittle.

Remembering the night of terror when Mrs. John Baker was assaulted and an effort made by a wild mob to get the negro, Charles Daniels, at the end of a rope, the police hurried Smith out of the city and his whereabouts is a secret. There was little if any excitement last night. Few knew of this latest assault. This morning the city was intensely excited and threats against the negro quarters are made.

DUNNE AND LOWDEN ARE CHOSEN TO HEAD TICKETS IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Sept. 14.—One of the hardest fought political campaigns in the history of Illinois, will be waged between Governor Edward F. Dunne, Democrat, and former Congressman Frank O. Lowden, Republican, nominated for governor yesterday by the Democrats and Republicans, respectively, it was predicted today. Both rolled up pluralities of approximately 100,000 over the nearest competitors in the nomination race, according to returns available early today. Both are veteran campaigners. Governor Dunne defeated William B. Brinton, of Dixon, a manufacturer, who had the backing of Roger Sullivan. Dunne won Cook county by approximately 60,000 and had a plurality of about 9,000 in one-third of the downstate precincts. Lowden won in Cook county by about 30,000 and down state by twice that plurality. Morton D. Hull and Frank L. Smith, his opponents, ran close together.

Defeat of William Lorimer for congress from the Sixth Illinois District, seemed assured early today, although returns were incomplete. Arthur W. Fulton had a plurality of 1,000 over the United States senator who made a determined fight to win the sup-

Medill McCormick, former Progressive, and former Senator Mason were elected by Republicans for congressmen at large, according to reports this morning. Congressmen at large B. M. Chipfield was running Mason a close race. The Democratic nominees for congressmen at large are William Eliza Williams, of Pittsfield, incumbent, and Everett Jennings, of Chicago. James R. Mann, Republican house leader, Uncle Joe Cannon, Martin B. Madden, George H. Foss, Ira C. Copely, Fred A. Britton, Charles E. Fuller, John McKenzie, Edward J. King, John A. Searling, William B. McKinley, Loren E. Wheeler, William A. Rodenburg, Thomas H. Williams, Edward E. Dennison and William W. Wilson were re-nominated for congress by the Republicans. James T. McDermott, Democratic congressman, was defeated by Charles Martin, an alderman of Chicago. Democratic congressmen re-nominated were Adolph J. Sabath, James McAndrews, Frank Bachman, Clyde N. The program as arranged, calls for addresses by J. A. M. Adair, Democratic candidate for Governor of Indiana; Evans Woolen, of Indianapolis, and Martin H. Glynn, of New York. Mr. Glynn is to deliver the notification address, after which Mr. Marshall will accept formally the nomination. Preceding the speaking there will be a parade. Telegrams received last night from the national headquarters of the party indicated that about forty of the fifty-three members of the notification committee will be present and about twenty members of the national Democratic committee. Arrangements have been made to take as many of the visitors as cars to go, and who are not at conferences, on an automobile tour of the city.

Rest Room

The three Knights of Pythias lodges in the city are figuring on building a fine rest room downtown during the Korn Carnival.

New York, Sept. 14.—A sympathetic strike of 70,000 trade unionists allied with the striking street railway employees will be called Saturday night unless Mayor Mitchel and the Public Service Commission succeed in bringing an amicable settlement prior to that time, was the prediction made by James P. Holland, president of the state federation of labor at a mass meeting held today following a parade of the striking traction men and sympathizers.

"The match is ready" Holland said. "If nothing is done by Saturday a strike that will astonish the city will be called."

New York, Sept. 14.—Despite the maintenance of regular schedules on subway and elevated lines of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the gradual restoration of service on the surface lines, leaders of the striking street railway employees, declared today they were far from being defeated.

They hinted that the danger of a "sympathetic" strike is not over. Following a parade and demonstration by the strikers, the question of a "sympathetic" strike will be discussed at meetings of the Central Federated Unions of Brooklyn and Manhattan. Strike leaders predict that resolutions favoring a strike among trades allied with the street railway employees will be adopted. Whether the strike will actually take place, however, will depend on the individual votes of the union, it is asserted. Traction officials announced today that the service in the subway and on the elevated roads was better than normal, while service on most of the street car lines was from 25 to 40 per cent below normal. The railway companies say it is no longer necessary for them to hire strike-breakers, claiming that hundreds of their former employees have returned to work.

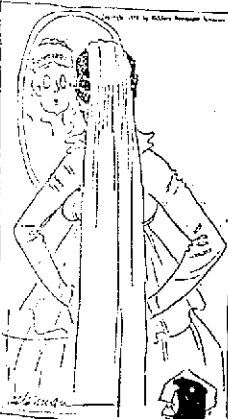

Five trolley cars came together in a series of rear end collisions on West Chester avenue in the Bronx today and ten passengers were injured, one seriously. The accidents occurred at the foot of a steep incline and the car crews, who said they were strike breakers, claimed the rails had been greased so that the brakes would not hold.

Billy Batt In Town

WHY NOT A GOAT PARADE? ADE? 100

Wonder why some of those Korn Carnival chaps never thought of gettin' up a weather man's parade? As my observation goes there oughta be enough weather men, professional and amateurs, in these parts to make a pretty respectable crowd and some means oughta be found for gettin' 'em together for a march. Here's my guess for tomorrow: Ohio—Probably fair and cooler tonight and Friday. Kentucky—Fair and much cooler tonight and Friday. West Virginia—Showers tonight. Cooler in west portion Friday. Fair and cooler.

society, if your younger sister had committed a crime, if in order to save her, you were forced to become a secret agent of the United States Customs to aid in the detection of a man who had smuggled a $200,000 necklace into this country—if you fell in love with the smuggler you were compelled to pursue, if it became a choice between your sister and the man you loved, What Would You Do?

If you were a man who had smuggled a necklace through the Customs, if you had suspected that some one of the government agents was on your trail, if you learned that this girl you loved was trying to send you to prison, if you were compelled to fight her, What Would You Do?

These are the absorbing questions that are thrillingly and dramatically answered in the Famous Players Film Company's elaborate picture, "Under Cover," which was written by Roi Cooper Megrue. The stirring elements of this celebrated drama have been woven into a photoplay of excitement, mystery, surprise, love and laughter, that is not

William H. Thompson and Marjory Wilson in "The Eye of the Night," Columbia Tonight

The picturesque scenery of Northern California's coast is said never to have been depicted on the screen with more success than it is in "The Eye of the Night," the Triangle play in which Thomas H. Ince presents William H. Thompson, the "Dean of the American Stage," as star.

Departing from the usual run of recent pictures, this drama is a story of the sea—rather of a sea coast village in England—and consequently a vast majority of its scenes demanded a natural setting similar in appearance to the British coast. The shore that fringes Inceville is one of the beautiful wonder spots of Southern California, yet it is nowise resembles the rock-bound coast of England. Hence in staging the subject Director Walter Edwards was compelled to take Thompson, Marjory Wilson, who supports him, and some twenty other players to a point about 600 miles up the coast and there encamp for two weeks while the drama was in the process of making.

During the stay of the company a total of 7,000 feet of film was exposed, the greatest portion of which illustrates the matchless beauty of the rugged California coast. Among the more imposing of the scenes is that which shows the sunrise on the horizon.

"The Upper Ten" is the title of chapter three of "The Grip of Evil," that gripping serial recently released. John Burton transposed by chance from petty foreman in a steel works to fent Lord Castleton and a multi-millionaire, seeks an answer to the question, "Is Humanity in the Grip of Evil?" He goes to England but returns to America as plain John Burton. He is sought after by society when it becomes known he is a Lord. He attends a big dance and is sought after by a society belle, much to the disgust of Ralph Morgan, the girl's sweetheart, who thinks he is engaged. A crossing watchman saves Burton from under the wheels of a train. Other exciting incidents happen and at the end of all Burton believes more than ever that humanity is in the grip of evil. A Luke Melaine comedy and a Heine and Louis comedy complete the bill.

CLAIMS PATENT INFRINGED UPON

City officials are perplexed over an injunction suit filed in the United States District court, Cincinnati, Wednesday, asking an injunction against the City of Portsmouth, restraining them from continuing with the construction of the new flood wall addition. The suit was brought by Frank A. Bone, through Attorneys Ewald and Sharran, Cincinnati. The grounds cited for the action was alleged breach of patent rights.

The plaintiff claims that the design of the flood wall infringes upon his patent. He asks ten percent of the total cost of building the wall as a royalty. City Solicitor S. Anselm Skelton received a bill of the action Wednesday afternoon. Should a temporary injunction be granted Solicitor Skelton stated that an attempt would be made by the city to secure a bond, so that the work could continue pending the final hearing of the case.

Don't Poison Baby.

Forty years ago almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Drugs are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics raised to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

FAMOUS 101 RANCH SHOW HERE THURSDAY

Buffalo Bill, Colonel William F. Cody, after many years' absence, will soon visit our city, combining his old wild west atmosphere with the Miller Bros.-Arlington enlarged "101 Ranch" show, and a military contingent of furloughed United States soldiers just from service on the Rio Grande. He gives a practical training exhibit with his rough riders and military. "Military service, whatever its desirability, from the other points of view," says the Journal of the American Medical Association, "has at least one merit—it tends to bring out the facts with regard to the physical fitness of the male population. Nations seldom take stock of the physical condition of their citizens, except for military purposes. Sometimes the exigencies of war bring to light unwelcome facts."

MAY HELP SOMEWHAT

The new national highway law, which appropriates federal aid to constructing state roads, and construction is interpreted, according to the necessities of the situation, to mean re-building to a degree of permanency, or rather endurance, provides that if any road for the construction of which federal aid is granted, is suffered to fall in bad condition and be not repaired by the state within four months after notice is given, the particular state so derelict shall receive no further aid. This provision seems rather harsh on the face of it, but as a matter of fact, it ought to eventually work out as the wisest and best provision of the whole system of federal aid. Our generally atrocious roads arise not out of the fact that we do not spend enough money in constructing them, neither out of the further fact that we do not do enough in repairing them, but that we do not make the repairs timely and with good judgment. In the past hundred years the states and counties have spent enough money on roads to lay them every one in brick and burnish them off with gold, but through petty graft, lack of judgment, right direction and timeliness, the bulk of the money has been squandered and wasted. The penalizing condition will help to bring both authorities and people to a realizing sense of this profligacy and waste. And so helping it is going to bring about better results in the course of time. In this the much condemned automobile is playing a conspicuous part and is destined to play a greater part as it takes on more of the character of a utility and less of a luxury. Every time it gets stuck in the mud, every time it gets a bump that jars out of order or breaks it, a lasting lesson will be taught of the value of good roads and a keener thought bred of how to maintain them, more will appreciate the home of the utter profligacy with which the whole system of their construction and maintenance is carried on. When the American people know a condition and make up their mind to remedy it there is never condition that they will go about it and find the way.

A SENSIBLE CONSTRUCTION

Take time, and these reckless automobile drivers will be headed off yet. The Massachusetts court has made fair progress towards that most desirable consummation. In a recent decision the court lays down the rule that holds the operation of a car to a broader responsibility than has heretofore been determined. In the particular case before it the plaintiff complained the defendant has ruined a suit of clothes for him by driving his machine through a wet, dirty street so rapidly that the mud therefrom was splashed all over him. It was the plea of the defendant that he was not responsible for the condition of the street and he was not traveling beyond the speed limit fixed by law and ordinance. The court says neither of these matters has to do with the merits of the case. Each and every citizen has an equal right to use the streets and that right is not a privilege in one and a license in the other. Laws and ordinances regulating speed are to cover ordinary conditions and exigencies. They deprive no man of his vested rights. Every one has a right to pass along the highways in safety to himself and his belongings. The automobilist who moves at such a speed, on streets in such condition, that that speed makes for the injury or damage of another, is just as liable to him as if there were no regulation at all. The great principle of reason is the higher law in such instances, deferred to by statutory law itself, it may be said. The conclusion is that there is nothing that exempts the operation of an automobile from ordinary and common responsibility. If the law attempts such a thing, which is ridiculous, it is bad and unconstitutional, and will not be sustained by the courts. The defendant was held to payment of damages.

The types do play the oddest pranks with us exuders of pale grey matter. The Roanoke had all the laboratories of its village on it when they read in an editorial on the recently impending railroad strike: "The question is too momentous to be left to the arbitrament of toil and confusion." When the representatives of insulted labor called it was fortunate that the editor was able to prove to them he had written it turmoil and strife, but one of his hired toilers had taken the liberty of chewing off the first syllable.

The administration has rid us of the bothersome stamp tax and for that little even a Progressive turned back to his vomit will approve it.

BED TIME TALES

Strange Noises

AS SOON AS THEY heard that mysterious sound the four beavers scudded for shelter in a hurry. The sound might mean that a friend was coming and it might mean an enemy; they couldn't be sure which and they didn't intend to take any chances—not they! They tucked themselves down in the weeds at the side of Crooked Creek and listened for the sound to be repeated.

But it wasn't repeated. The only noise that could be heard was the soft lapping of the water as it flowed through the weeds and rushes and the faint whisper of the winds playing tag through the trees. Father Beaver was just about to whisper, "Could we have been mistaken?" before going on with his work, when right over his head there sounded the loudest noise! An awful, weird, mournful noise that sent little prickles of fear running down Father Beaver's back.

Instantly, out on the creek there was a funny little "splash!" as though someone had hit the water with a flat paddle, and the funny little splash was right near where Father Beaver had thought he heard the "swish" some minutes before. In a second there was another little splash further up the creek; and then another still further away; and then another. And then silence.

The four beavers crouched low in the weeds at the edge of the creek and waited. Ten minutes they waited and not a sound did they hear. A half an hour; still there was silence. I tell you, the wild creatures learn patience. They thought nothing at all of waiting motionless for an hour if safety was threatened. You might think an hour was a pretty long time to wait without moving and I'm sure you'd have prickles in your feet before half the time was past. But the wild creatures have to learn waiting—and listening—and watching.

Going On Long Trip.

Will Leightenheimer, of the water works street force, is planning an extensive trip for his vacation which will begin October 1. He expects to visit Chicago, St. Paul and Spokane, Wash.

pieces for an Indianapolis paper.

Gertrude Atherton, than whom there is no whinner as an authoress, is back from France. She traveled along the front in a military automobile placed at her disposal by the French government.

When she arrived she called the reporters and revealed something that all of us have been eager and anxious to know for several months. The war will be over by spring—there you have it.

J. Wade McGrath, who used to hop bells when he was a youngster in a Cleveland hotel, has just purchased the Hotel St. Andrew. He worked his way up through different departments and several years ago became part owner and manager of the Hotel Margrave.

The St. Andrew is in an ideal location, being on Broadway at Seventy-second street, but has been more of a family hotel. McGrath expects to bid for the regular transient trade that has resulted from the trend of business northward.

Business houses are gradually creeping along West Seventy-second street. Five years ago it was a residential driveway only—connecting Riverside Drive with Central Park. Now only a few of the old-time homes remain.

Did you ever think how fantastic a frog is? Well—if you did, could you in your wildest flights of fancy imagine a song about a frog's romance? It has been done and right here in New York. Arthur Field wrote the music and Walter Donovan, who works on Park Row, wrote the words.

The name of the song is "Gila, Gila, Gila" and what is more they are singing it all around town. Still upon reflection it is not so remarkable. For Field wrote a song once called "Aha-Daha," and it made a fortune.

The truth is that the sillier the name of a song the more likely it is to attract—that is, if the words are backed up by a tune and swing in melody. There seems to be no hard and fast rule in the business of trying to put over a song with the public.

THE FARMER'S LIFE

The editor of the Jackson Standard-Journal, wherever that is, has evidently been a farmer. At least he understands that there are more worries on the farm than anywhere else in the world—as every man understands who has had any experience in agriculture. But to quote from the Standard-Journal:

"Farmers have more grievances than anybody else because Nature is not yet understood, and so many things may happen. For instance, a Jackson man fed buttermilk to his calf the other day, and the calf died. When the calf is not dying the steer is choking on an apple, the horse has hots, the sheep breaks its neck jumping over the fence, the chicks have the pip, the turkeys get their feet wet in the dew, the cats are too thick to stand up, water drowns the hay, wind breaks down the corn, the cow eats wild onions and—but what is the use?"

But, he's a plucky old chap. Ever know a farmer to lie down on the job because things didn't go just right? Ever know a farmer to make an assignment to beat anybody out of a bill of goods he bought just before making an assignment? Ever hear of a farmer refusing to plant another crop because a crop was burned up by a drought or washed away in a flood? Hardly.

He is game to the core, this farmer man. He accepts his losses more gracefully than any other man on earth. He knows less about what he is going to get for a crop until it is sold, than the merchant knows about what he is going to get for the goods he buys. He can't protect himself as can the manufacturer, who fixes his own prices, based upon the cost of raw material and labor. The farmer sells at the other fellow's price and buys at the other fellow's price, and is generally double-crossed going and coming.

Occasionally a city man gets it into his head that there is great wealth to be made at farming. He buys a tract of land and starts into the game. His eggs cost him a dollar apiece, his milk costs him a quarter a pint, his chickens are more expensive than quail in a big hotel. And he throws up the job of farming, and devotes all of his time to his other enterprises—which the farmer can not do.—Dayton News.

Evidently the terrors of the Valentine anti-trust law, or the possibilities of its enforcement in Sealed county, have no place with the master bakers. The common price of bread isn't going up, it is already gone and, of course, will be mighty slow about coming down.

Observing the new war front from this remote prospect, we conclude both sides are making up their reports on the theory that there will be none to prove the contrary.

The Times, of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, calls for some real September weather. This Times is able to announce that this Portsmouth has that kind. Truth to speak it has that kind all the time, but just at present the real weather is the most delightful that can be desired. The sun has just enough glow in it and softly and gently the breeze loll in at the west window.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

BY O.O. MCINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 14—Richard Walton Tully, the playwright, is just as loose as ashes with his money. An idea came to him the other morning and he began scurrying across the check-book and zip went a couple of thousand lovely dollars. When he got through the check-book was as lean and thin looking as the average musical comedy joke.

Tully comes from California and he has produced a play called "The Flame"—which up to the present writing hasn't gone up in smoke. He invited sixty-five critics off the drama to come to New York to see from since he made a chase around the opening performance and he paid the world after a millionaire's son all their expenses, including their railroad fare, hotel bills and incidental expenses for ice cream, candy and lollypops.

Distance didn't even bluff him, even if two of the critics came all the way from California. Of course, the Big Idea was to get country-wide newspaper recognition for the merits or demerits of his brain child. Also there is another reason and that is his desire to repay the newspaper men for the kindnesses they have shown him when he produced other plays.

Among those who came was Hector Fuller, who hasn't been heard from since he made a chase around the opening performance and he paid the world after a millionaire's son all their expenses, including their railroad fare, hotel bills and incidental expenses for ice cream, candy and lollypops.

Tisn't but a day since Thomas A. Edison was the greatest genius in the United States. Today he is only half such because he has declared for Wilson and that puts him outside the pale by the Republican organs, whose shibboleth is vote her straight every time and all the time.

The humor of the campaign may be considered in full swinging with Hughes swatting the fly of Democratic violations of the civil service and Ex-Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock made chairman of the advisory committee of the Republican national committee.

September is claiming its full toll of reckless and careless driving. Every day so far anywhere from two to half dozen deaths in automobile accidents are reported.

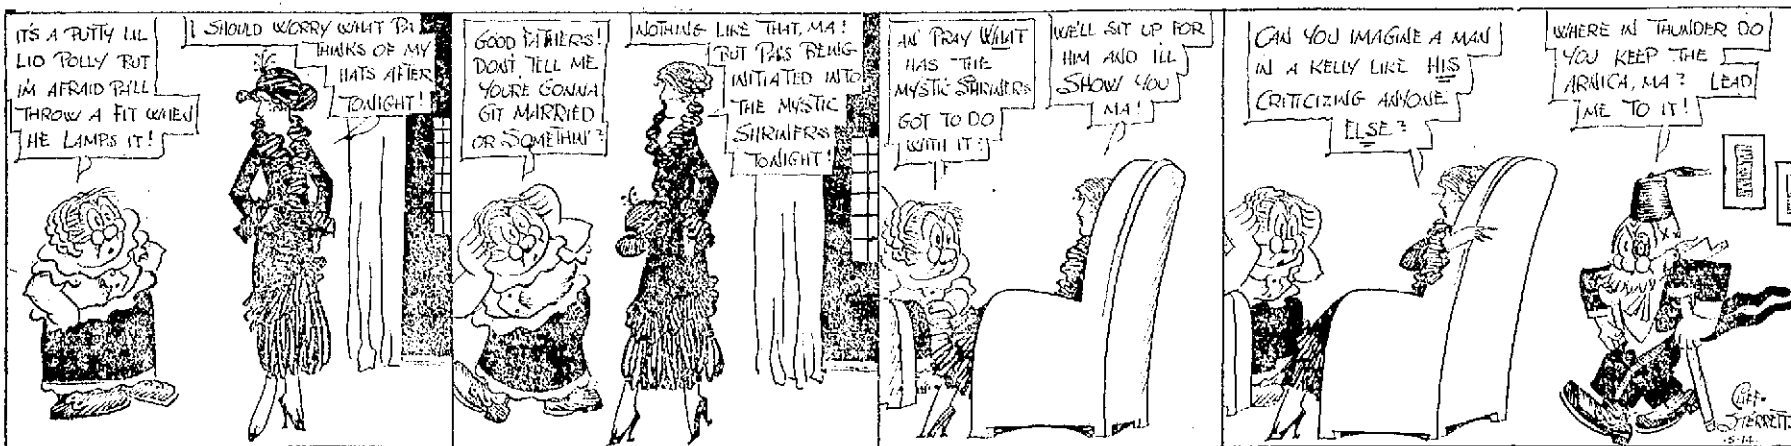

A contemporary asserts the Germans have begun to look askant—suspiciously—upon war news from Berlin. Does it speak of information or of mere assumption? So far as our observation goes, as a rule, what little dependable war news there is comes out of Berlin. And this much can be set down to her credit, at least, every time German arms win some slight advantage she doesn't immediately flash it all over the world as a crushing victory.

To be sure there is denial Roosevelt will not be allowed to speak in this state. There ever is of any political action that may ent both ways.

London, Sept. 14.—The British have made further progress on the Somme front north of Ghinchy, it was announced officially today.

"Some further progress has been made by us north of Ghinchy."

Bed Bugs

A 25-cent package of Peaky Devil's Sulfur, P. D. Q., makes a full quart of the best bug killer on earth. Better than a barrel of old-fashioned kerosene. A sprayer sprout is free to get them in the hard-to-get-at places.

Bed Bugs, Roaches, Ants and Fleas can't exist when P. D. Q. is used, as it kills them and their eggs as well. P. D. Q. will not injure bedding. Kills Fleas on dogs. At your drug store.

Rumanians Repulse Teutonic Attacks

Petrograd, Sept. 14.—(Via London).—Rumanian troops have repulsed a series of attacks by the Germans and Bulgarians in Dobrudja, the war office announced today. "In the region of Silistria, on the right bank of the Danube fighting is still proceeding," the statement says.

"The Rumanians repulsed a series of attacks by German-Bulgarian troops and captured eight little guns."

Asks That The Churches Be Spared

Rome, Wednesday, Sept. 13.—In view of the recent aerial bombardments of Venice Pope Benedict has renewed to Austria-Hungary his recommendation that, during the war, churches, monuments and art treasures be spared. The wish of the Pope will be urged also by Monsignor Valfrido Poma, a prelate well acquainted with high Italian personages, who will soon go to Vienna as papal nuncio.

Monsignor Poma will fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Monsignor Scapinelli to be a cardinal.

German Assaults Are Repulsed

Paris, Sept. 14.—The Germans made vigorous efforts last night to drive the French from territory captured recently on the Somme and Verdun fronts. The war office today announced the repulse of several assaults north of the Somme and east of the Meuse at Chapitre Woods.

Serbs Continue To Make Gains

Paris, Sept. 14.—Bulgarians are engaged in violent fighting on the Macedonian front. The war office announced today that the Serbians had captured Bulgarian trenches near Vetrenik and a height northwest of Lake Ostrov.

An engagement south of the lake is turning in favor of the Allies.

French Cling To Ground

London, Sept. 14.—The French north of Peronne are holding tenaciously to the salient they have driven into the German lines east of the Bethune-Peronne road near Bouchavesnes. They hold intact, too, the town of Bouchavesnes and other points along the line captured in the offensive started Tuesday. Their capture of a powerfully organized German trench system to the south of the Lepreze farm near the road running west from Ran-court to Comblès has put Comblès in further jeopardy.

Fighting in the region of Bouchavesnes has been sanguinary.

Finding that the French had cut their line of communication from Peronne northward the Germans threw violent attacks against La'abbe wood and Hill 78, south of Bouchavesnes, and retook both places. The French returned viciously to the attack and after hard fighting, some hand to hand, finally drove out the Germans and kept the ground they had won.

In two days' fighting more than 2,300 Germans were taken prisoner and a large number of guns and machine guns were captured.

French Pause In Advance

London, Sept. 14.—The French have paused in their advance north of Peronne, where they have driven a total distance of six miles into the German lines since July 1, when the Somme offensive began, and now are withstanding a series of German counterattacks.

Assaults were delivered last night on the new French positions both north and south of the Somme, but were fruitless, according to today's Paris bulletin.

The Macedonian campaign of entente forces apparently is not being pressed on the right of the Saloniki position, the British who have advanced across the Struna being reported to have withdrawn to the west bank.

The Serbians, however, are continuing their pressure against the Bulgarians along the western end of the line. The French war office report announces that the engagements turning in favor of the allies and that Bulgarian trenches and a height northwest of Lake Ostrovo have been captured by Serbians.

Latest reports from both sides of the campaign in the Rumanian province of Dobrudja show the opposing forces in contact along virtually the entire front.

Apparently a general engagement is impending.

Dispatches from Italy say an offensive campaign in the Balkans has been mapped out at the conference of the Central Powers now in progress at German headquarters. Germany's contribution to the force being fixed at 200,000 and Austria's at 100,000 men.

Allies' Attacks Are Repulsed

Berlin, Sept. 14.—(Via London).—Repeated and violent assaults against the Germans on the Somme front yesterday were repulsed with sanguinary losses for the Allies, the war office announced today.

THE STOCK MARKET RISE UNCHECKED

New York, Sept. 14.—The extraordinary rise in the stock market of the last fortnight, unequalled since last year's movement in war brides, attained wider and more impressive proportions today, the first hour's trading of almost half a million shares being attended by gains of 1 to 3 points in industrials, equipments, motors, oils and shares of almost every other description, with a twenty point advance in Bethlehem Steel at 575.

United States Steel was the chief feature, rising to 106 1/4 in the first hour and exceeding its previous record of 3/4 of a point. The character of the trading indicated an increase of public interest although it was not seen in the investment group. Fundamental conditions so far as they affect finance, industrial and general business conditions are sufficiently favorable, in the view of Wall Street observers, to account for the general interest in the securities market at this time.

PIKE COUNTY GIRL IN THE CORN CONTEST

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—Twenty-seven girls are contesting with hundreds of boys in various parts of the state in the corn-raising contest. The prize in each county is a trip to Washington. The advice of the board of agriculture, which is managing the Washington trips for boys and girls, was that the girls confine themselves to the domestic science contests, but a number of the girls evidently thought they were just as good farmers as their brothers and are working at their acre of corn.

So far 250 trips have been offered the boys and 131 trips to the girls.

Julia Beauchamp, 15-year-old girl of Pike county, is said to have brought her acre of corn along nicely and is promised a big yield. She has expressed the hope that she will win the state championship from the boys and show that it is not necessary to be a man to be a farmer.

ILLINOIS

O'Hara, leader of the Illinois Vice Commission, which gained nationwide publicity, apparently has been defeated for renomination by Henry W. Huttman, of Chicago. The Republicans nominated John G. Ogelsky, who served as lieutenant governor for several terms. A close race developed between Edward J. Rindage, of Chicago, and Richard J. Barr, of Joliet, for the Republican nomination for attorney general. The result is still in doubt.

James J. Brady, present state auditor, was renominated by the Democrats. Arthur W. Charles is Democratic nominee for state treasurer and Len Small, of Kankakee, the Republican nominee for that office.

With Cook county complete and returns from 1,887 precincts out of 2,973 down state compiled, Cal. Frank O. Lowdon received 161,141 votes for the Republican nomination for governor in yesterday's primary. Morton D. Hull ran second with 91,788 votes and Frank L. Smith received 64,640.

Controversy Over Gun

A controversy has arisen over a gun that was confiscated at the time Joe Slighter, a foreman in a railroad construction camp, near Harrisonville, was arrested this summer. Slighter was found to have a gun at a street fair grounds. He was fined $100 and costs and paid $15 down. The gun, as is customary, was kept by the police officials. Later Wm. Ricker, of Harrisonville, a friend of Slighter, laid claim to the gun. He made several unsuccessful efforts to see Mayor Kaps when in the city, and they finally made an appointment Wednesday evening. The mayor told him that he would ask his legal adviser, City Solicitor A. C. Skelton, if he had a right to hold the gun.

William Ailles, Night Watchman, Drowns In Millbrook Lake

Presumed He Fell Off Ruel's Pile Driving Boat; Find Body Near Scene

William Ailles, aged 42, who for three weeks had been employed as night watchman on Henry Ruel's pile driving boat moored in Millbrook lake, New Boston, was drowned in the lake sometime between 12 o'clock last night and 12:30 this morning. His lifeless body was found at 8:40 this morning within a few feet of the boat from which he is supposed to have fallen to his death. The body was found by George Morford, employed as a foreman by Henry Ruel, and J. W. Lyons.

When found Ailles' watch had stopped running at 12:30 this morning. A time recording machine near the boat showed this morning that Ailles had registered as late as 12 o'clock last night. When Morford reported for work at 6 o'clock this morning Ailles was missing. His hat, dinner basket and a landing lantern were found on the front of the pile driving boat. "That it was that was expressed that he had been drowned," J. W. Lyons went to Ailles home, only to learn that he had not been there since Tuesday evening. Returning to Millbrook, Lyons and Morford secured a spike pole and after moving their boat three feet, found Ailles' body floating face down. They towed it to the north shore of the Millbrook lake and Coroner Daehler and Henry Ruel were notified.

The scene of the drowning is near the old bridge that led to the plant of the Whitaker-Glessner company. It was located about half-way round the Millbrook loop. Henry Ruel is putting down some piling there preparatory to making a fill. Ailles rushed with his family at 3800 Rhodes avenue, New Boston. He had been a steelworker for years prior to entering Mr. Ruel's employ.

Coroner Daehler found nothing to indicate foul play, for while there was an abrasion on the forehead this is thought to have been caused by coming in contact with a hook of the spike pole with which the body was brought to the surface. "The body was turned over to Undertaker Daehler, to be prepared for burial. Ailles is said to have been seen about New Boston about 11 o'clock. The drowning victim was a native of Vanceburg, Ky., a son of the late Walker Ailles and wife. He moved to New Boston about fifteen years ago and up until several months ago was employed as a "catcher" on the 18-inch bar mill at the Whitaker-Glessner Company's plant. His wife was formerly Elizabeth Parker, and of four children born to them, only one son, Charles Ailles, aged 20, a steelworker, survives. He also leaves one brother, Roscoe Ailles, a traveling salesman, and one sister, Mrs. Nora Riley, of Yorktown, Ind. He was a member of the New Boston tribe of Red Men. The wife is almost prostrated by the shock. She last saw her husband alive at supper time Wednesday evening.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etc., etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 82.

should the couple respond to him in the same way they do their friends? BRIDAL COUPLE.

Most ministers wish the couple happiness and prosperity. I know of nothing better to say than "thank you." A minister's good wishes should be appreciated whether he is acquainted with the couple or not.

Dear Dolly—My floors seem very badly stained, but ordinary treatment will not restore them. How can I have them cleaned without requiring a new varnish? MRS. K. K.

When natural wood is soiled, clean with oil and turpentine or with oil and wood alcohol. If very soiled, rub well with wooden cloth wet in turpentine or alcohol and afterward polish with paraffin oil. If the wood is dark, polish with linseed oil instead of paraffin.

Dear Miss Wise—I have ugly blotches on my face. My skin is very white and tender and it makes them show all the more. What causes the face to break out and cause these purplish spots? I don't squeeze or pinch these spots. BESSIE.

You need a physician's advice. So many disturbances cause eruptions on the face that it is best to find the real cause before trying to cure them. The purplish spots are scars from the eruptions and will disappear when your skin is in a better condition. It will do no harm to massage the face with a good cold cream.

Dear Miss Wise—I am twenty years old, I go with a boy who lives near me and I think that he expects I will marry him some day, though I have no intention of doing so. He comes from a very good family and I admire his mother and father very much. When the time comes that I will have to let him know that I cannot marry him, I know that it will break his mother's heart, because she is very fond of me. What shall I do—keep on going with him and say nothing or stop going with him now? He seems to love me, but I would hate to hurt him, but I can never love him.

WANT-TO-KNOW.
Keep on going with him, but don't give him reason to think that he means more to you than a friend. Time will adjust matters. He may find another girl who he cares more for than he does for you—or you may learn to care for him.

Dear Dolly—Supposing a couple are serenaded should the bride and the groom say "thank you" when being congratulated by each of the serenading party? What other words than "thank you" can be said when being congratulated? NEWLY WEDS.

They should both thank the ones who congratulate them. The man is congratulated, the girl is congratulated. He might say, "I realize how fortunate I am," and she, "Thank you, I think I shall be happy."

Dear Miss Wise—What is meant by the expression "sport"? I have heard lots of fellows say that he or she is a good sport. MANDY.

The boys probably mean that the person is ready for a good time and not afraid to have it.

Annual Y. W. C. A. Meeting Friday

TRUE HAIR GROWER

Puts Hair On Your Head and Helps to Keep It There.

What's the use of being bald? What sense is there in deliberately allowing your hair to turn gray?

Do you want to look old before your time? Give up the thought; old age will come all too soon. Look after your hair. Parisian Sage is a scientific preparation that supplies hair needs—just what you want. It aims to prevent grayness and baldness by putting life and nourishment into the hair roots.

Man or woman, no matter how old you are, Parisian Sage will help you to look younger and more attractive.

Why not go to Fisher and Stretch's and get a large bottle today, it will not cost more than 50 cents, and your money back if it does not cure dandruff, stop falling hair, or itching of the scalp. It will make your hair luxuriant, bright and beautiful. It is a most refreshing, pleasant and invigorating hair dressing and absolutely harmless to the hair and scalp.

Mrs. A. H. Bauman and children are coming home the last of the week after spending the summer with her father, Dr. Leads, in Chelsea, Mass.

Mrs. J. F. Brushart, Mr. Tom Brushart, Mrs. Louella Wendelken and Mrs. John Brushart, Jr., motored up to see the Apple Show in Ironton today.

James Breese, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Breese, has gone to Delaware, where he will attend school at the O. W. U.

The Franz home on Market street was the scene of much joviality Wednesday evening when Miss Gertrude Franz entertained with an old-fashioned watermelon feast. Music, dancing and games were indulged in and punch was served throughout the evening. At a late hour the guests assembled on the lawn, which was gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns, and watermelon was served to the following: Misses Garnet Doll, Sadie Shively, Georgia Roberts, Mary Stokes, Beatrice Smith, Horstense Brawley, Mabel Lorey, Nellie Welch, Ruth Mackey, Dorothy Yates, Evaresta Brennan, Irene Kidd, Edith Roberts, Gertrude Franz and Messrs. Karl Kappos, Clarence Steinhil, Joe Schmidt, Edward Frank, Emmett Swishelm, Sam Ware, Forest May, Harry Davidson, Arthur Young, Robert Nutter, Clarence Flemming, Lee Weber, Edward Clockner and Clarence Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Keefe and son, Dan, of 1005 Ninth street, attended the Apple Show in Ironton, Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Pfeiffer and daughter, Anna, left at noon Thursday for Ironton to attend the Apple Show.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

MOSQUITOES CAUSE DISEASES

The mosquito is born in cess pools, sewers and swamps, and when he sticks his proboscis thru your epidermis, he is reeking with filth and disease. Flood & Blake make a compound which they call Skeete Dope, that will positively keep them away. 25c, delivered to any part of the city. Call No. 93.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulitised cocoon oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulitised cocoon oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

afternoon was spent in art needlework, after which the hostess served a dainty repast. Those present were Misses Mary Williams, Katherine Stockham, Millie Sullivan, Jessie Cronston, Marjorie Noel, Mesdames Alfred Stewart, Russell Stockham, Ralph Loft, Rena Walker and William Nageleisen.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brunny have as guest Mr. Brunny's uncle, Mr. P. F. Hammon, of Piketon.

Mrs. Charles Hall left today for Greenfield to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight O. Miller.

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Frizzell, of Buena Vista, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, of Knoxville, Tenn., spent yesterday in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bode motored to Ironton today to attend the Apple Show.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Varner, Miss Dorothy Varner and James Huston Varner motored to Columbus today to place James Huston in school at the O. S. U.

Mr. and Mrs. Adara Buch, Mr. and Mrs. William Burke and Miss Madeline Augustin motored to Ironton today to attend the Apple Show and will return home Friday.

An Old English Handbill

advertised a public warning about coffee in its early days as a beverage in England. It said:

"You are not to drink it after supper unless you intend to be watchful, for it will hinder sleep for three or four hours."

That was 250 years ago. Today it is a well-known fact that sleeplessness, brought on by coffee drinking, is due to the presence of the drug, caffeine, in coffee. It is also known that coffee drinking is a common cause of various other ills.

POSTUM

was devised especially for people who should not use coffee, but who like a hot beverage with meals. It resembles mild Java coffee in its snappy taste, but contains no coffee, caffeine, nor any harmful element.

Postum is good for old and young, and can be drunk freely at any time of the day with pleasure and comfort.

GANG OF DARING THIEVES OPERATE IN WAKE OF CIRCUS

A series of daring burglaries were committed in the city in the wake of the circus Wednesday night and the police were kept busy. In several instances the thieves made good hauls.

According to a statement made by one of the circus men last night a gang of thieves has been following the show and every effort is being made to break it up.

Switalski Home Is Burglarized

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Switalski, 821 Eighth street, was visited by burglars last night and a gold necklace, a bracelet and several gold rings belonging to Mrs. Switalski were taken. The thieves also picked up a dollar bill they found on the buffet. Mrs. Switalski was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brand, last night, and did not discover the robbery until she went to her home this morning. A scene of confusion and disorder met her eyes, the thieves having ransacked the home from top to bottom, practically every drawer and closet in the house being rifled. Entrance to the home was gained by raising an upstairs window, the parties making use of a ladder they found in the back yard.

Thieves Enter Reitz Plant

Thieves effected an entrance to Reitz Bros., plant on North Chillicothe street last night by pulling a lock off a back door. They ransacked the plant and then gained admission to the office. Charles Heid, an employee of the firm was notified last night at 11 o'clock that the office lights were burning. He made an investigation accompanied by Officer Grant Goings and they soon learned what had taken place. The only thing found missing was a steel tape measure.

Ninth Street Homes Entered

A man's gold watch, lavalliere, brooch and chain, three rings, earrings and $3 in $1 bills and a chain formed the loot obtained by thieves who ransacked the homes of Charles Moritz, 1124 Ninth, Frank Warner, 1128 Ninth, Roy Broadwater, 1130 Ninth and Joe Farmer 1015 Ninth. The money and jewelry except chain and ring was taken from the home of Mr. Moritz.

Mrs. Moritz and family left home at 7:30 and returned at 8:30, the robbery being within this hour. A daughter of the house had left the front door unlocked, but ten minutes later a son locked the door and it is thought the thief or thieves got in within ten minutes after the family left. All doors and windows were found locked when the family arrived home. Nothing downstairs was touched but when Mr. Moritz got ready to retire he missed his gold watch.

At the Warner home a screen was lifted from the bedroom window, mud being found in the room Thursday morning where the burglar had made an entrance. All drawers were looked but the bed clothes were turned back, showing that the thief was after money. Mrs. Adam Herder, who lives in another half of the house occupied by Mr. Warner, arrived home at 8:30 and as she stepped upon the porch someone pulled down the blind to the window opening onto the porch. She thought it was Mrs. Warner and paid no attention to the incident until the Warner's arrived home. A search of the house disclosed nothing missing but the kitchen door and alley gate were left open. Mr. and Mrs. Warner spent the evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Distelrath, just across the street.

A rear door was forced at the Broadwater home. Mr. Broadwater, roller at the steel mill, was asleep in the bedroom. The "intruder" was bold and went into where Mr. Broadwater was sleeping and ransacked drawers. His cigarette case was taken from his coat and left on the dining room table as it contained his name. Other drawers and small boxes were found ransacked.

Mrs. Joe Farmer arrived home from the Forrest theatre at 8:30 and is positive there was someone in the house when she got there.

She forgot the key and went to a rear window, through which an entrance could be gained. The window was found already open and the kitchen door was also unlocked. Mrs. Farmer then got a neighbor, and on her way around the house tried to open a side door, but found it locked.

On Mr. Farmer's arrival he found this door unlocked. Mrs. Farmer and neighbor went to the kitchen door after trying the side door, and it is thought the robber, or robbers, slipped out the side door at this time. A front door to which Mr. Farmer had the key, was found bolted. A trunk in a rear bedroom was emptied of its contents, and drawers in a front bedroom were ransacked. Blinds were found drawn and windows kept open were down. A gold chain and turquoise ring were taken from a watch box on the front bedroom dresser. Considerable money and a revolver in the children's room were not touched.

Boiler Plant Also Visited

The Runyon Boiler Works plant, on Chillicothe street, opposite the circus ground, was also the scene of a robbery. A key was used to open the door of the office. A sign on the safe door reads "This safe is open" and the door was not bothered, but the lock boxes on the inside were broken open. A few stamps and small change were taken. The robbery was discovered early Thursday by Howard Runyan.

Was Attacked By Highwaymen

One of the employees of John Robinson's show was attacked by two highwaymen at Ironton Tuesday, according to a story told in this city Wednesday evening. Mr. King, ticket seller, who had charge of the advance sale of tickets at the Wurster drug store, said he was attacked by two men while on duty at the Red Cross Pharmacy, Ironton, Tuesday evening. The attempted robbery was foiled.

King had about $1,000 in a small iron box when the two men entered the store. One of them walked up to him and struck him a smashing blow in the face. In falling King succeeded in seizing the lid of the cash box and shut it. It automatically locked. Then a missile followed.

The ticket seller says he broke away and seizing the cash box bent a hasty retreat through the door. On gaining the street he hailed a passing automobile and climbed in. While the machine was speeding to a place of safety it struck a street car, hurling Mr. King to the street. King said he made his escape.

Street Fair Ordinance Passed By Council; Legality Of Action Taken Is Questioned

Statutory regulations may make it necessary for council to again consider the famous street fair ordinance, which would specify a license charge of $100 per day for all street carnivals. The measure was passed by council, at an adjourned meeting

Wednesday evening, without a dissenting vote, yet there is a doubt whether it has been legally enacted. Only seven days had elapsed between the time of the meeting and the time in which the mayor returned the vetoed bill with his reasons.

Sherrard M. Johnson, councilman from the Second ward, who has been active in its support, since it was inaugurated several months ago, questioned the passage of the measure on the grounds of statutory requirements. He held that vetoed measures could not be considered by council until ten days had elapsed after the vetoed bill, together with the Chief Executive's reasons, had been formally presented to that body.

City Solicitor S. Anselin Skelton contended that council was compelled to act within ten days after the vetoed bill, accompanied by the mayor's reasons, had been presented. An argument ensued. The solicitor's opinion was accepted and a motion was presented by Councilman Johnson asking for the reading of the measure. It was passed without a dissenting vote.

After the meeting adjourned, the statute pertaining to the passage of a vetoed measure was looked up by Councilman Johnson. It is in part as follows: "When a mayor disapproves an ordinance or resolution, or any part thereof, and returns it to the council with his objections, council may, after ten days, reconsider it, and if such ordinance, resolution or item, upon such reconsideration, is approved by the votes of two-thirds of all the members elected to council, it shall then take effect as if signed by the mayor." (Sect. 4294 C. C.).

In interpreting the passage, Councilman Johnson held that the ten days prescribed by legislature was inculcated expressly to give the members of council that much time to deliberate the measure.

Councilmen present, who unanimously voted for the ordinance were W. M. Craner, Sherrard M. Johnson, George W. Vandervert, E. P. Riekey and Harold Rice.

Improvement Bonds Are Approved

A resolution approving the sale of $2,000 River Front Improvement Bond issue to the Sinking Fund trustee was passed.

Six petitions, asking the purchase of a triangular strip of ground located between Robinson avenue and Twelfth streets and Hatches and Franklin avenue, for park purposes, was referred to the street committee and the solicitor to confer with Mrs. Frovine, the owner, relative to the price asked.

Alan N. Jordan and L. C. Turley, owners of the Sunnyside addition, appeared before council, upon request of that body, and asked that a settlement of the controversy between themselves and the owners of the Zaph property relative to the opening of Sunset avenue, be effected. The matter was referred to the street committee for arbitration.

In addressing council, Mr. Jordan stated that a controversy had arisen between Mr. Zaph and the owners of Sunnyside addition several years ago over the opening of Sunset avenue, the first street west of the new Lincoln school, running north and south.

In summing up, Mr. Jordan said that when Sunset avenue was first surveyed, it was agreed that thirty feet should be allowed for the thoroughfare by Messrs. Turley and Jordan and by Mr. Zaph. Through a mistake, only a twenty-five foot strip was left open. Then, as other streets in that vicinity are mostly fifty foot streets, an attempt was made, Mr. Jordan claimed, to get Mr. Zaph to give twenty-five feet. An argument ensued, but no agreement was reached.

At the present time, Mr. Jordan claims, there is a strip of 16 1-2 feet left on the Zaph property for a street, which is termed an alley, and a one-foot strip of neutral ground. There is yet 25 feet on the Sunnyside addition to be dedicated to the city for a street.

Offers To Pay Street Assessments

Mr. Jordan offered to pay Zaph's street assessments, the cost of changing the manholes and curbs from a 60 foot street to a 42 1-2 foot street, and pay the cost of installing the sidewalks on the Zaph side, if the street is opened. "Anything that you, as honest men, say we should do to settle this controversy so that Sunset avenue can be opened, we are willing to do," said Mr. Jordan, who several months ago purchased Simon Labold's interest in the addition. The owners of Sunnyside stated that they stood ready to dedicate the twenty-five feet at anytime for the opening of Sunset avenue.

In the opening of Sunset avenue, Mr. Jordan declared that Twentieth street would automatically open. As it is, he said, a fence was across Twentieth street, stopping traffic.

Mr. Turley gave council a detailed account of the controversy.

Chillicothe. They carry new books, magazines and papers. Being very hot, I stopped in Malvaxa, Fifth and Chillicothe. It is a beautiful place, and the drinks are so refreshing, but they cooled me so that I dropped in Bill Abrahams, room 3 Kricker Bldg., and bought the finest overcoat you ever saw, at a very reasonable price.

Saw a very attractive home. On inquiry I learned that D. A. Alpaugh, 503-505 Second, had furnished it with "The right kind, price and terms." It is situated in "Beautiful Millbrook addition," where one can have all conveniences and the situation adds to the beauty. Merle O. Duduit is the sales agent.

I passed a fine feed store. The name was J. F. Newman and Son, 907 Gallia. I learned that they sell the best timothy hay.

Henry Roth, 420 Chillicothe, has a fine store of sporting goods. He caters to the wants and needs of the people.

Stopped in The Model Bakery, Eleventh street. They make Milk-Maid brand. It is made, baked and sold clean.

Tasted some cake made from Crepe-de-la Creme flour. It is distributed by Grimes-Stittmattner Grain company, Elk building. "Used by housewives that know. Nothing like it!"

For diversion I went to the Lyric, Gallia and Chillicothe streets. Such a lovely theatre. Times surely are progressing. The music is the best yet.

My eyes were not used to even such a small strain. I went to Luck and English, 511 Chillicothe, and they gave me lasting relief. Satisfaction guaranteed. Such improvements over old times.

Went in the Central Hardware Co., 643-645 Second. Found everything marked in plain figures so that one could find exactly what they wanted.

Went through the Keystone Press Co. Found it equipped with all modern devices. It's the print shop of Peerless Portsmouth. We had to do our own printing.

Drs. O. W. Robe, and Oral D. Tatje were called to West Union Tuesday and testified in an important case being heard there.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing, nourishment it contained. You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food didn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and Fisher and Streich pharmacy and all other good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

Replies In Bahner Case

David Bahner is asking $300 damages for alleged damage to a strip of ground owned by him, in the construction of the new road bed. He denies that the Reinhardt and Dennis company is in full charge of the construction.

Henry and George Bahner are asking judgment for $5,000 claimed due for damage to a road. The reply denies that the road has been restored to its former condition.

Inactive Liver Causes Headaches, Constipation and Stomach Trouble

A Wineglassful of Tollo Water Will Clean Out the Bile and Make You Feel Fine In Half An Hour.

Is your tongue coated, your head heavy and dull, feel tired and worn out? It is your liver.

Take a Tollo Water liver bath tomorrow morning. This wonderful water is concentrated and bottled at Dawson Springs, the famous Kentucky health resort, and is noted among physicians for its natural ability to clean the liver and restore proper bile duct activity. Once that is brought about you will never be troubled with constipation, headache or biliousness again.

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from your druggist, then before breakfast take a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water. It will flush out the bile tubes and expel the waste that is fermenting in the stomach and bowels in half an hour.

This is a more sensible way of treating the liver than the old way of "dosing" oneself with calomel, which upsets the stomach.

An occasional Tollo Water liver bath will keep your liver, stomach and bowels healthy and make you feel good all the time.

STRIKERS TO HOLD PARADE

Dimitracopulos May Head New Greek Cabinet

MAYOR MITCHEL UNABLE TO BREAK STRIKE DEADLOCK

New York, Sept. 14.—Leaders of the striking railway employees estimated that more than 10,000 men would take part in a parade and mass meeting today, while city officials and the heads of both sides of the controversy held conferences in a further effort to break the deadlock which has partly tied up most of the surface car lines in Manhattan and Bronx boroughs and Westchester county.

The parade was planned to start at 11 o'clock and proceed from 86th street to Union Square, where a mass meeting will be held this afternoon. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, Mayor London, a prominent Socialist and leaders of the "Carmen's" are on the program as speakers.

Mayor Mitchell admitted that he had no plan which promised any settlement of the strike.

Confident that they had available enough men to enable them to carry through a successful siege against the union, the New York Railway company operating many surface lines, has dismissed the employment agencies which have been engaging strike-breakers, and more than 1,000 men employed to take the place of the strikers have been discharged. The company officials said they had enough men to operate the elevated and subway lines, but not enough to man all the surface cars.

The night service on surface lines continues to be suspended.

DUNNE AND LOWDEN ARE CHOSEN TO HEAD TICKETS IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, Sept. 14.—One of the hardest fought political campaigns in the history of Illinois, will be waged between Governor Edward F. Dunne, Democrat, and former Congressman Frank O. Lowden, Republican, nominated for governor yesterday by the Democrats and Republicans, respectively, it was predicted today. Both rolled up pluralities of approximately 100,000 over the nearest competitors in the nomination race, according to returns available early today. Both are veteran campaigners. Governor Dunne defeated William B. Brinton, of Dixon, a manufacturer, who had the backing of Roger Sullivan. Dunne won Cook county by approximately 60,000 and had a plurality of about 9,000 in one-third of the down state precincts. Lowden won in Cook county by about 30,000 and down state by twice that plurality. Morton D. Hull and Frank L. Smith, his opponents, ran close together.

Defeat of William Lorimer for congress from the Sixth Illinois District, seemed assured early today, although returns were incomplete. Arthur W. Fulton had a plurality of 1,000 over the United States senator who made a determined fight to win the support of his old congressional district.

Medill McCormick, former Progressive, and former Senator Mason were elected by Republicans for congressmen at large, according to reports this morning. Congressmen at large B. M. Chip-

Athens, Greece, Sept. 14.—(Via London.)—King Constantine has asked M. Dimitracopulos, former minister of justice, to form a new cabinet. M. Dimitracopulos has accepted in principle, and will confer with the king.

Athens, Greece, Sept. 13.—(Via London, Sept. 14.)—M. Dimitracopulos has asked King Constantine to allow him 48 hours in which to consult his friends before deciding as to whether he will undertake the formation of a new cabinet. The former minister of justice also wishes to sound the ministers of the cabinet before reaching a decision. M. Dimitracopulos is known to have declared that his acceptance of the premiership will only be made on the basis that he is given full power to control the national policy. He will insist that his hands must be free to take whatever steps the present crisis calls for even to the entry of Greece into the war.

FIRE CLAIMS TOLL OF 4

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14.—Four men are dead and a score of others narrowly escaped from a fire which swept the Salvation Army industrial building early today. ### MARSHALL NOTIFICATION AT INDIANAPOLIS TONIGHT

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—Vice President Thomas R. Marshall will be notified of his re-nomination on the Democratic ticket tonight. Prominent Democratic leaders, including National Chairman Vance McCormick, were to arrive here today, and preceding the notification ceremonies, it was planned for them to attend political conferences and receptions. The program as arranged, calls for addresses by J. A. M. Adair, Democratic candidate for Governor of Indiana; Evans Woolson, of Indianapolis, and Martin H. Glynn, of New York. Mr. Glynn is to deliver the notification address, after which Mr. Marshall will accept formally the nomination. Preceding the speaking there will be a parade. Telegrams received last night from the national headquarters of the party indicated that about forty of the fifty-three members of the notification committee will be present and about twenty members of the national Democratic committee. Arrangements have been made to take as many of the visitors as care to go, and who are not at conferences, on an automobile tour of the city.

FRENCH CLING TO GROUND CAPTURED FROM GERMANS

London, Sept. 14.—The French north of Peronne are holding tenaciously to the salient they have driven into the German lines east of the Bethune-Peronne road near Bouchavesnes. They hold intact, too, the town of Bouchavesnes and other points along the line captured in the offensive started Tuesday. Their capture of a powerfully organized German trench system to the south of the Lepreux farm near the road running west from Rancourt to Comblès has put Comblès in further jeopardy.

Picks All Star Boy Scout Team

(By M. H. F. KINSEY)

I have been asked by many of the hundreds of interested fans who attended the Boy Scout league games on Saturday afternoons, as well as the players themselves, to pick an "All Star" team from the league of 1916 and publish same.

It is always hard work to pick an All Star team, for usually no two persons can agree on them. But in the selection of this team I have consulted records closely, and having witnessed nearly every game during the past season, I believe I can pick a team that most any reasonable and impartial fan can agree on. I would like to tour the country with this team, for I feel that this is

The work of the pitchers on this All Star team has been unusually brilliant the past season. Moon, the Athletics' leading pitcher, was the biggest factor in their successful pennant fight. Moore was the East End's mainstay, and established a record when he fanned 35 batters in a single game. This game

Outlook At Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., Sept. 12.—Little chance for a conference football championship is seen at Wisconsin this fall.

The squad, which includes a number of men of brief experience in actual battle though they have been on the gridiron for some time, lacks, it is said, that quality known to football fans as "class."

Paul Withington, successor to Bill Juncos as head coach, will find the squad sadly in need of elementary drill, it is predicted, but with that drill properly instilled under the new coach-

FOUR LETTER MEN AT WESTERN RESERVE

Cleveland, Sept. 11.—Indications are that Coach W. D. Powell will have the task of rebuilding a gridiron team at Western Reserve about a very small nucleus.

Four letter men are expected back:

Now men are Ammerman, guard; Broda and Moul, ends; High, half, and Fussell, man, quarter. Except for a game with ing system he expects to adopt, the Badgers should make a fair showing.

Some of the stars of last year will answer the first call. They are Capt. Meyers, right end; E. Simpson, quarter;

Shilton Gardner, guard, and Louis Krcov, fullback, all "W" men. Simpson probably will do the punting and Taylor for the drop kicking. Other veterans

The Boston Beaneles gained on Brooklyn and the Phils yesterday as they won a double header while Brooklyn lost and the Phils halved two games with the Cardinals. If Bixey and Alexander waver the Phils will be nosed out.

regulation could clean up on any boys' team in America. Furthermore I believe there are boys on this All Star team who will be in the "big show" some day if they continue to take care of themselves as they are now doing. Here is the line up, just as I would place them for a game: H. Hudson, c; Blake, 2b; Portner, 3b; Haislet, ss; E. Cook, cf; Staten, 1b; R. Bryant, lf; H. Hopkins, rf; Moon and Moore, p.

Fortunately, every team in the league is represented. Hudson, Haislet and Cook are members of the Kendall Avenue team; Staten and Hopkins from the East End; Portner and Hopkins from the Tigers; and Blake, Bryant and Moon from the champion Athletics team. Here is their record for 1916.

Notre Dame here Oct. 7, all Reserve's contests are with Ohio teams, the season ending Nov. 30 with the annual case battle.

MAY HELP SOMEWHAT

The new national highway law, which appropriates federal aid to constructing state roads, and construction is interpreted, according to the necessities of the situation, to mean re-building to a degree of permanency, or rather endurance, provides that if any road for the construction of which federal aid is granted, is suffered to fall in bad condition and be not repaired by the state within four months after notice is given, the particular state so derelict shall receive no further aid. This provision seems rather harsh on the face of it, but as a matter of fact, it ought to eventually work out as the wisest and best provision of the whole system of federal aid. Our generally atrocious roads arise not out of the fact that we do not spend enough money in constructing them, neither out of the further fact that we do not do enough in repairing them, but that we do not make the repairs timely and with good judgment. In the past hundred years the states and counties have spent enough money on roads to lay them every one in brick and burnish them off with gold, but through petty graft, lack of judgment, right direction and timeliness, the bulk of the money has been squandered and wasted. The penalizing condition will help to bring both authorities and people to a realizing sense of this profligacy and waste. And so helping it is going to bring about better results in the course of time. In this the much condemned automobile is playing a conspicuous part and is destined to play a greater part as it takes on more of the character of a utility and less of a luxury. Every time it gets stuck in the mud, every time it gets a bump that jars out of order or breaks it, a lasting lesson will be taught of the value of good roads and a keener thought bred of how to maintain them, more will appreciate the borne home of the utter profligacy with which the whole system of their construction and maintenance is carried on. When the American people know a condition and make up their mind to remedy it there is never condition that they will go about it and find the way.

A SENSIBLE CONSTRUCTION

Take time and these reckless automobile drivers will be headed off yet. The Massachusetts court has made fair progress towards that most desirable consummation. In a recent decision the court lays down the rule that holds the operation of a car to a broader responsibility than has heretofore been determined. To the particular case before it the plaintiff complained the defendant has ruined a suit of clothes for him by driving his machine through a wet, dirty street so rapidly that the mud therefrom was splashed all over him. It was the plea of the defendant that he was not responsible for the condition of the street and he was not traveling beyond the speed limit fixed by law and ordinance. The court says neither of these matters has to do with the merits of the case. Each and every citizen has an equal right to use the streets and that right is not a privilege in eye and a license in the other. Laws and ordinances regulating speed are to cover ordinary conditions and exigencies. They deprive no man of his vested rights. Every one has a right to pass along the highways in safety to himself and his belongings. The automobilist who moves at such a speed, on streets in such condition, that that speed makes for the injury or damage of another, is just as liable to him as if there were no regulation at all. The great principle of reason is the higher law in such instances, deferred to by statutory law itself, it may be said. The conclusion is that there is nothing that exempts the operation of an automobile from ordinary and common responsibility. If the law attempts such a thing, which is ridiculous, it is bad and unconstitutional, and will not be sustained by the courts. The defendant was held to payment of damages.

A Dr. Huffman, of Youngstown, tried to break the fast record of forty days. He did, but he won't try it again. He is dead.

After all South Carolina has thought better of herself and rejected Cole Blensie. He was rejected quite decisively in the runoff-primary of Tuesday.

The types do play the oddest pranks with us exuders of pale grey matter. The Roanoke had all the laborites of its village on it when they read in an editorial on the recently impending railroad strike: "The question is too momentous to be left to the arbitrament of toil and confusion." When the representatives of insubordinate labor called it was fortunate that the editor was able to prove to them he had written it in turmoil and strife, but one of his hired toilers had taken the liberty of chewing off the first syllable.

The administration has rid us of the bothersome stamp tax and for that little even a Progressive turned back to his vomit will approve it.

A western preacher has gone the limit by asking his congregation to give him topics for his sermons that they would like to hear him preach on. He is the only one attending services that doesn't realize his people don't wish to hear him at all.

One of the liveliest traffic points in the county is the junction of Galia and Harrisonville avenue, New Boston. It is a constant reminder that New Boston ought to be a part of a big city instead of just a separate village.

TWO VIEWS OF GREECE AND THE WAR

THE FARMER'S LIFE

The editor of the Jackson Standard-Journal, wherever that is, has evidently been a farmer. At least he understands that there are more worries on the farm than any where else in the world—as every man understands who has had any experience in agriculture. But to quote from the Standard-Journal:

"Farmers have more grievances than anybody else because Nature is not yet understood, and so many things may happen. For instance, if a Jackson man fed buttermilk to his calf the other day, and the calf died. When the calf is not dying the steer is choking on an apple, the horse has colic, the sheep breaks its neck jumping over the fence, the chickens have the pip, the turkeys get the wet in the dew, the oats are too thick to stand up, water drowns the hay, wind breaks down the corn, the cow eats wild onions and—but what is the use?"

But, he's a plucky old chap. Ever know a farmer to lie down on the job because things didn't go just right? Ever know a farmer to make an assignment to beat anybody out of a hill of goods he bought just before making an assignment? Ever hear of a farmer refusing to plant another crop because a crop was burned up by a drought or washed away in a flood? Hardly.

No is game to the core, this farmer man. He accepts his losses more gracefully than any other man on earth. He knows less about what he is going to get for a crop until it is sold, than the merchant knows about what he is going to get for the goods he buys. He can't protect himself as can the manufacturer, who fixes his own prices, based upon the cost of raw material and labor. The farmer sells at the other fellow's price and buys at the other fellow's price, and is generally double-crossed going and coming. Occasionally a city man gets it into his head that there is great wealth to be made at farming. He buys a tract of land and starts into the game. His eggs cost him a dollar apiece, his milk costs him a quarter a pint, his chickens are more expensive than quail in a big hotel. And he throws up the job of farming, and devotes all of his time to his other enterprises—which the farmer can not do.—Dayton News.

Evidently the terrors of the Valentine anti-trust law, or the possibilities of its enforcement in Scioto county, have no place with the muster bakers. The common price of bread isn't going up, it is already gone and, of course, will be mighty slow about coming down.

Observing the new war front from this remote prospect, we conclude both sides are making up their reports on the theory that there will be none to prove the contrary.

The Times, of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, calls for some real September weather. This Times is able to announce that this Portsmouth has that kind. Truth to speak it has that kind all the time, but just at present the real weather is the most delightful that can be desired. The sun has just enough glow in it and softly and gently the breezes lull in at the west window.

Strange Noises

AS SOON AS THEY heard that mysterious sound the four beavers started for shelter in a hurry. The sound might mean that a friend was coming and it might mean an enemy; they couldn't be sure which and they didn't intend to take any chances—not they! They tucked themselves down in the weeds at the side of Crooked Creek and listened for the sound to be repeated.

But it wasn't repeated. The only noise that could be heard was the soft lapping of the water as it flowed through the weeds and rushes and the faint whisper of the winds playing tag through the trees. Father Beaver was just about to whisper, "Could we have been mistaken?" before going on with his work, when right over his head there sounded the loudest noise! An awful, wild, monstrous noise that sent little trickles of fear running down Father Beaver's back.

Instantly, out on the creek there was a funny little "splash!" as though someone had hit the water with a flat paddle; and the funny little splash was right near where Father Beaver had thought he heard the "swish" some minutes before. A second there was another little splash further up the creek; and then another still further away; and then another. And then silence.

The four beavers crouched low in the weeds at the edge of the creek and waited. Ten minutes they waited and not a sound did they hear. A half an hour; still there was silence. I tell you, the wild creatures learn patience. They thought nothing at all of waiting motionless for an hour if safety was threatened. You might think an hour was a pretty long time to wait without moving and I'm sure you'd have prickles in your feet before half the time was past. But the wild creatures have to learn waiting—and listening—and watching.

But when a whole hour had gone by—Father Beaver could tell the time by the faint new moon that was gradually slipping out of sight—and still there had been no sound, the beavers began to feel that the danger was past. And in a few minutes more Father Beaver ventured to whisper softly, "What do you suppose that was?" "If we had been in our old home," Mother Beaver whispered back, "I would have thought that that awful noise was an owl. It was something like an owl's call, there's no doubt about that. But I never heard an owl that could frighten me so." "Maybe that's just because we feel strange here," suggested Father Beaver, growing braver as the silence continued. "But what was the other noise?" "And again they heard that soft "swish" in the water—this time close to their hiding place! Tomorrow—Mikky Mush-Rat!

Going On Long Trip.

Will Leightenheimer, of the water works street force, is planning an extensive trip for his vacation which will begin October 1. He expects to visit Chicago, St. Paul and Spokane, Wash.

pieces for an Indianapolis paper.

Gertrude Atherton, than whom there is no whomever as an authoress, is back from France. She traveled along the front in a military automobile placed at her disposal by the French government.

When she arrived she called the reporters and revealed something that all of us have been eager and anxious to know for several months. The war will be over by spring—there you have it.

J. Wade McGrath, who used to hop bells when he was a youngster in a Cleveland hotel, has just purchased the Hotel St. Andrew. He worked his way up through different departments and several years ago became part owner and manager of the Hotel Hargrave.

The St. Andrew is in an ideal location, being on Broadway at Suyouth-Second street, but has been more of a family hotel. McGrath expects to bid for the regular transient trade that has resulted from the fraud of business northward.

Business houses are gradually creeping along West Seventy-Second street. Five years ago it was a residential driveway only—connecting Riverside Drive with Central Park. Now only a few of the old-time houses remain.

Did you ever think how ramshackle a frog is? Well—if you did, could you in your wildest flights of fancy imagine a song about a frog's romance? It has been done and right here in New York. Arthur Field wrote the music and Walter Donnan, who works on Park Row, wrote the words.

The name of the song is "Gila, Gahlu, Gahlu" and what is more they are singing it all around town. Still upon reflection it is not so remarkable, for Field wrote a song once called "Abe-Daba," and it made a fortune.

The truth is that the sillier the name of a song the more likely it is to attract—that is, if the words are backed up by a tuneful and swinging melody. There seems to be no hard and fast rule in the business of trying to put over a song with the public.

"Taming the subway ticket," is the latest dodge of those who are unfeeling enough to defeat this rich transportation system. Instead of dropping the ticket into the box—it is held under the thumb.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O. O. MCINTYRE.

New York, Sept. 14—Richard Walton Tully, the playwright, is just as loose as ashes with his money. An idea came to him the other morning and he began scampering across the check-book and zip went a couple of thousand lovely dollars. When he got through the check-book was as lean and thin looking as the average musical comedy joke.

Tully comes from California and he has produced a play called "The Flame"—which up to the present writing hasn't gone up in smoke. He invited sixty-five critics off the drama to come to New York to see the opening performance and he paid all their expenses, including their railroad fare, hotel bills and incidental expenses for ice cream, candy and lollipops.

Distance didn't even bluff him, even if two of the critics came all the way from California. Of course, the Big Idea was to get country-wide newspaper recognition for the merits or demerits of his brain child. Among those who came was Hector Fuller, who hasn't been heard from since he made a cluse around the world after a millionaire's son all their expenses, including their railroad fare, hotel bills and incidental expenses for ice cream, candy and lollipops.

Tully discovered Fuller writing the newspaper men for the kindnesses they have shown him when he produced other plays.

So far as our observation goes, as a rule, what little dependable war news there is comes out of Berlin. ## What Sort of A Friend Are You?

What sort of a friend are you? Do you stick by your brother's side As you know you'd want him to do If you were as sternly tried? Is there ever a pleasure rare To share another's care And smilingly help him out?

What sort of a friend are you? Just one of the fair-day kind— A smile when the skies are blue— Aloud when he falls behind? Do you put yourself out at all? Do you pass up a joy that's right To answer a brother's call— Or selfishly hurry by?

Do you stick when his days are glum As you did when his days were fair? When he wishes that you would come Do you eagerly hurry there? Or do you think of yourself Each minute the whole day through— Of comfort, of fame and peif? What sort of a friend are you? —Selected.

Two washwomen were one day telling of the progress made by their boys in their chosen work. "Tell me, Mrs. Casey," asked Mrs. Clancy, "what's your son John doing now?" "John's on the stage—he's a light comedian," answered Mrs. Casey. "Ye don't tell me!" exclaimed Mrs. Clancy. "An' would ye mind tellin' me what a light comedian is?" "Well," explained Mrs. Casey, "in me son's case it's this: he plays a silent part behind a black curtain, with his mouth to a hole, and in front is a candle, and when Alkali Al shoots at the candle, John blows it out."—Everybody's Magazine.

Unlucky Thirteen

A gentleman who dined regularly at a certain restaurant often ordered a dozen clams. One day he counted them and found but eleven, says the Christian Herald. Still another day the dozen was one short. He called the waiter and asked him: "Why do you give me eleven clams when I order twelve?" Oh, sir," replied the waiter, "I didn't think you'd want to be sitting thirteen at table, sir."

Presumed He Fell Off Ruel's Pile Driving Boat; Find Body Near Scene

William Ailles, aged 42, who for three weeks had been employed as night watchman on Henry Ruel's pile driving boat moored in Millbrook lake, New Boston, was drowned in the lake sometime between 12 o'clock last night and 12:30 this morning. His lifeless body was found at 6:40 this morning within a few feet of the boat from which he is supposed to have fallen to his death. The body was found by George Morford, employed as a foreman by Henry Ruel, and J. W. Lyons.

When found Ailles' watch had stopped running at 12:30 this morning. A time recording machine near the boat showed this morning that Ailles had registered as late as 12 o'clock last night.

When Morford reported for work at 6 o'clock this morning Ailles was missing. His hat, dinner basket and a burning lantern were found on the front of the pile driving boat. Then it was that fear was expressed that he had been drowned. J. W. Lyons went to Ailles home, only to learn that he had not been there since early Tuesday evening. Returning to Millbrook, Lyons and Morford secured a spike pole and after moving their boat three feet, found Ailles' body floating face down. They towed it to the north shore of the Millbrook lake and Coroner Daehler and Henry Ruel were notified.

The scene of the drowning is near the old bridge that led to the plant of the Whitaker-Gleason company. It was located about half-way round the Millbrook loop. Henry Ruel is putting down some piling there preparatory to making a fill. Ailles resided with his family at 3586 Rhode avenue, New Boston. He had been a steelworker for years prior to entering Mr. Ruel's employ.

Street Fair Ordinance Passed By Council; Legality Of Action Taken Is Questioned

Statutory regulations may make it necessary for council to again consider the famous street fair ordinance, which would specify a license charge of $100 per day for all street carnivals. The measure was passed by council, at an adjourned meeting Wednesday evening, without a dissenting vote, yet there is a doubt whether it has been legally enacted. Only seven days had elapsed between the time of the meeting and the time in which the mayor returned the vetoed bill with his reasons.

Sherrard M. Johnson, councilman from the Second ward, who has been active in its support, since it was inaugurated several months ago, questioned the passage of the measure on the grounds of statutory requirements. He held that vetoed measures could not be reconsidered by council until ten days had elapsed after the vetoed bill, together with the Chief Executive's reasons, had been formally presented to that body.

City Solicitor S. Anselm Skelton contended that council was compelled to act within ten days after the vetoed bill, accompanied by the mayor's reasons, had been presented. An argument ensued. The solicitor's opinion was accepted and a motion was presented by Councilman Johnson asking for the reading of the measure. It was passed without a dissenting vote.

After the meeting adjourned, the statute pertaining to the passage of a vetoed measure was looked up by Councilman Johnson. It is in part as follows: "When a mayor disapproves an ordinance or resolution, or any part thereof, and returns it to the council with his objections, council may, after ten days, reconsider it, and if such ordinance, resolution or item, upon such reconsideration, is approved by the votes of two-thirds of all the members elected to council, it shall then take effect as if signed by the mayor. (Sec. 4234 G. C.)"

In interpreting the passage, Councilman Johnson held that the ten days prescribed by legislature was intended expressly to give the members of council that much time to deliberate the measure.

Councilman present, who unanimously voted for the ordinance were W. M. Cramer, Sherrard M. Johnson, George W. Vandervort, E. P. Rickey and Harold Rice. The measure becomes effective thirty days after its passage.

Improvement Bonds Are Approved
A resolution approving the sale of $2,000 River Front Improvement Bonds issued to the Sinking Fund trustee was passed.

Six petitions, asking the purchase of a triangular strip of ground located between Robinson avenue and Twelfth streets and Hitchins and Franklin avenues, for park purposes, was referred to the street committee and the solicitor to confer with Mrs. Frowine, the owner, relative to the price asked.

Alan N. Jordan and L. C. Turley, owners of the Sunnyside addition, appeared before council, upon request of that body, and asked that a settlement of the controversy between themselves and the owners of the Zaph property relative to the opening of Sunset avenue, be effected. The matter was referred to the street committee for arbitration.

In addressing council, Mr. Jordan stated that a controversy had arisen between Mr. Zaph and the owners of Sunnyside addition several years ago over the opening of Sunset avenue, the first street west of the new Lincoln school, running north and south.

In summing up, Mr. Jordan said that when Sunset avenue was first surveyed, it was agreed that thirty feet should be allowed for the thoroughfare by Messrs. Turley and Jordan and by Mr. Zaph. Through a mistake, only a twenty-five foot strip was left open. Then, as other streets in that vicinity are mostly fifty foot streets, an attempt was made. Mr. Jordan claimed, to get Mr. Zaph to give twenty-five feet. An argument ensued, but no agreement was reached.

At the present time, Mr. Jordan claims, there is a strip of 16 feet left on the Zaph property for a street, which is termed an alley, and a one-foot strip of neutral ground. There is yet 25 feet on the Sunnyside addition to be dedicated to the city for a street.

Offers To Pay Street Assessments

Mr. Jordan offered to pay Zaph's street assessments, the cost of changing the manholes and curbs from a 60 foot street to a 42 foot street, and pay the cost of installing the sidewalks on the Zaph side, if the street is opened. "Anything that you, as honest men, say we should do to settle this controversy so that Sunset avenue can be opened, we are willing to do," said Mr. Jordan, who several months ago purchased Simon Labold's interest in the addition. The owners of Sunny-side stated that they stood ready to dedicate the twenty-five feet at anytime for the opening of Sunset avenue.

In the opening of Sunset avenue, Mr. Jordan declared that Twentieth street would automatically open. As it is, he said, a fence was across Twentieth street, stopping traffic.

Mr. Turley gave council a detailed account of the controversy.

CLAIMS PATENT INFRINGED UPON; CITY FACES AN INJUNCTION SUIT

City officials are perplexed over an injunction suit filed in the United States District court, Cincinnati, Wednesday, asking an injunction against the City of Portsmouth, restraining them from continuing with the construction of the new flood wall addition.

The suit was brought by Frank A. Bone, through Attorneys Fwald and Sherman, Cincinnati.

The plaintiff claims that the design of the flood wall infringes upon his patent.

He asks ten percent of the total cost of building the wall as a royalty.

City Solicitor S. Anselm Skelton received a bill of the action Wednesday afternoon. Should a temporary injunction be granted Solicitor Skelton stated that an attempt would be made by the city to secure a bond, so that the work could continue pending the final hearing of the case.

GANG OF DARING THIEVES OPERATE IN WAKE OF CIRCUS

A series of daring burglaries were committed in the city in the wake of the circus Wednesday night and the police were kept busy. In several instances the thieves made good hauls.

According to a statement made by one of the circus men last night a gang of thieves has been following the show and every effort is being made to break it up. Switalski Home Is Burglarized

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Switalski, 821 Eighth street, was visited by burglars last night and a gold necklace, a bracelet and several gold rings belonging to Mrs. Switalski were taken.

At the Warner home a screen was lifted from the bedroom window, and being found in the room Thursday morning where the burglar had made an entrance. All drawers were locked but the bed clothes were turned back, showing that the thief was after money. Mrs. Adam Herder, who lives in another half of the house occupied by Mr. Warner, arrived home at 5:30 and as she stepped upon the porch someone pulled down the blind to the window opening onto the porch. She thought it was Mrs. Warner and paid no attention to the incident until the Warner's arrived home.

A search of the house disclosed nothing missing but the kitchen door and alley gate were left open. Mr. and Mrs. Warner spent the evening with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. H. Distelrath, just across the street.

A near door was forced at the Broadwater home. Mr. Broadwater, roller at the steel mill, was asleep in the bedroom. The intruder was told and went into where Mr. Broadwater was sleeping and ransacked his room. His cigarette case was on a table and left on the table. Other drawers and small boxes were found ransacked.

Mrs. Joe Farmer arrived home from the Forrest theatre at 8:30 and is positive there was someone in the house when she got there.

A man's gold watch, lavalliere, locket and chain, three rings, earrings and $3 in $1 bills and a chain formed the loot obtained by thieves who ransacked the homes of Charles Moritz, 1124 Ninth, Frank Warner, 1128 Ninth, Roy Broadwater, 1130 Ninth and Joe Farmer 1015 Ninth. The money and jewelry except chain and ring was taken from the home of Mr. Moritz.

Mrs. Moritz and family left home at 7:30 and returned at 8:30, the robbery being within this hour. A daughter of the house had left the front door unlocked, but ten minutes later a son locked the door and it is thought the thief or thieves got in within ten minutes after the family left. All doors and windows were found locked when the family arrived home. Nothing downstairs was touched but when Mr. Moritz got ready to retire he missed his gold watch.

trance could be gained. The window was found already open and the kitchen door was also unlocked. Mrs. Farmer then got a neighbor, and on her way around the house tried to open a side door, but found it locked.

On Mr. Farmer's arrival he found this door unlocked. Mrs. Farmer and neighbor went to the kitchen door after trying the side door, and it is thought the robber, or robbers, slipped out the side door at this time. A front door to which Mr. Farmer had the key, was found bolted. A trunk in a rear bedroom was empty of its contents, and drawers in a front bedroom were ransacked. Blinds were found drawn and windows kept open were down. A gold chain and turquoise ring were taken from a watch box on the front bedroom dresser. Considerable money and a revolver in the children's

Boiler Plant Also Visited
The Rumson Boiler Works plant, on Chillicothe street, opposite the circus ground, was also the scene of a robbery. A key was used to open the door of the offices. A sign on the safe door reads, "This safe is open" and the door was not bothered, but the lock boxes on the inside were broken open. A few stamps and small change were taken. The robbery was discovered early Thursday by Howard Rumson.

Harry Lewis Loses Roll

Harry Lewis, well-known steelworker of Kinney street, was the victim of a pickpocket while on the circus grounds Wednesday. Lewis was relieved of $62. He is employed as a boiler-maker.

The Movies

William H. Thompson and Marjory Wilson in "The Eye of the Night," Columbia

Today
The picture scene of Northern California's coast is said never to have been depicted on the screen with more success than it is in "The Eye of the Night," the Triangle play in which Thomas H. Ince presents William H. Thompson, the "Dean of the American stage," as star.

Departing from the usual run of recent pictures, this drama is a story of the sea—rather of a sea coast village in England—and consequently a vast majority of its scenes demanded a natural setting similar in appearance to the British coast. The shore that fringes Inceville is one of the beautiful wonder spots of Southern California, yet it is nowise resembles the rock-bound coast of England. Hence in staging the subject Director Walter Edwards was compelled to take Thompson, Marjory Wilson, who supports him, and some twenty other players to a point about 600 miles up the coast and there "camp" for two weeks while the drama was in the process of making.

During the stay of the company a total of 7,000 feet of film was exposed, the greatest portion of which illustrates the matchless beauty of the rugged California coast. Among the more imposing of the scenes is that which shows the sunrise on the horizon.

You must have had a nice time." "No, I didn't." "Didn't have a good time?" "No." "Why?" "Because I told them a story." "What did you tell?" "They asked me if I take music lessons and I told them 'Yes.' And you know, mamma, that I don't."—Indianapolis News.

Making the Money Last.

Rosa Bonheur used to say that her youth was one of great poverty. Then she would add some dramatic stories about the family method of regulating its finance. The studio was a collection of odds and ends, and M. Bonheur knew how to turn that disorder to account. When he received money for his work he would take a handful of coins and throw it at random about the room. Then in times of stress, when there was apparently not a farthing left in the house, the entire family would set to work searching in nooks and corners. Sometimes they would find a five franc piece, and that would end starvation.
